A Litigator's Guide To Case Preparation

It is no secret that being well-prepared is important to the success of your case. However, the way in which a litigator prepares can vary greatly, and chances are, you could be doing it better! Join our dynamic faculty in this brand-new program designed to break down preparation at each stage of litigation, from preparing yourself to meet your client and effectively gather evidence, to preparing a knock-out cross-examination.
